WE INVITE YOU TO JOIN

Science and Technology Libraries

An international forum for science and technology librarians

IFLA, the International Federation of Library Associations and Institutions is the global voice of the library and information profession

The Science and Technology Libraries Section welcomes representatives of special libraries collecting materials in, and offering access to, information about the physical sciences & technology to users in science and technology departments of

- national libraries
- university libraries
- polytechnic libraries
- public libraries
- corporate libraries
- government research libraries.

The section collaborates closely with the International Association of Technological University Libraries (IATUL), Science & Technology Section of ALA, & the Engineering Libraries Division of the American Society of Engineering Education (ASEE).

Section Mission

To support and promote science and technology librarianship

Section Objectives

1. Promote international discussion of current issues and services in libraries in the sciences and technology.
2. Promote activities and explore best practices that advance the professional competence of science and technology librarians.
3. Engage in projects, in cooperation with other IFLA sections interested in the subject, with IFLA core programmes, and with other organizations, for the analysis of challenges which science and technology libraries face, as well for the preparation and implementation of appropriate proposals.
4. Extend the effectiveness of the Section as an international focus for science and technology librarianship.
5. Enhance the status of science and technology librarians.

We invite you to join the section and share your specialized knowledge with colleagues worldwide!

I am interested in becoming more involved in the work of IFLA through membership in the Section of Science and Technology Libraries.
