A question of confidence?: developing future leaders and managers for library and information services

– a case study approach to personal and professional development

Coral Black, Head of Public Services, University of London
Sue Roberts, University Librarian, Victoria University of Wellington
“Managers need to genuinely listen to people, seek to understand them and mentor them. They need to demonstrate respect, and communicate people’s worth and potential so clearly that they come to see it themselves – which is the true essence of leadership”
Developing future Managers and Leaders programme

Session outline

- Context
- Approaches to staff development
- What we did and why
- Application process
- The programme
- Evaluation and feedback
Context

- Learning Services established - increase in teams, diverse department
  - Library and Information Services, ICT support, Media Services and Development, ICT Training, E-learning and Learning technology, Study Skills and Dyslexia Support, Classroom and Lecture Theatre Management
- A number of new managers in post
- Built a strong Senior Management Team
- Concerned about progression/recruitment
Why think about Succession Planning

- High turnover of staff, new managers in post who need support and development
- Perceived gap/ Reduce the gap between SMT and other managers
- Difficult to recruit staff at a senior level with the appropriate skills, knowledge and experience
- Need to tap into the potential of our existing staff
- Demystify the role of the Manager/Leader
What influenced us??

- Experiential Learning
- Grounded in real life
- Authentic Leadership
- Mentoring
- Both Management and Leadership
Leadership quality – what you are Leadership situational – what you know
Leadership functional – what you do
Leadership values – what you believe

(John Adair)
Would staff be interested?

- Briefing paper for discussion
- ‘Potential Leaders and Managers Session’
  - 17 attended - variety of roles

- Areas of concern and priorities for us:
  - Delegation skills
  - Assertiveness and managing conflict
  - Managing change
  - Helping people develop in roles/personally
  - Motivating staff
  - Communication skills/EI
  - Performance issues & how to handle them
  - More specific ‘how to’ rather than just the theory
  - Lack of confidence
Pause for thought

Of the areas of concern staff identified, which resonate most strongly with you? What do you think was their Number 1 concern?

- Delegation skills
- Assertiveness and managing conflict
- Managing change
- Helping people develop in roles/personally
- Motivating staff
- Communication skills/EI
- Performance issues & how to handle them
- More specific ‘how to’ rather than just the theory
- Lack of confidence
Formal Application process
  • Why they wanted to be involved
  • Benefits for them and also for the team and service that would be gained

Induction Session
  • Outline of programme
  • Your perceptions and expectations
  • Case studies

Personal Development Planning
  • Skills analysis
  • Discussion with mentor and line manager
  • Personal plan developed
Staff Development sessions

- Communicating Effectively
- Managing the performance of others
- Politics and influencing
- Service Development, Problem Solving and Decision Making
- Emotional Intelligence
- Managing Absence
- Managing Meetings
Case Study Presentations

- Managing Change
  Margaret Weaver, St. Martins

- Successful project Management
  Julie Berry, Salford

- Developing Customer Relations
  Heather Bibby, BAE Systems

Group Activities – action learning

- Putting theory into practice

- Review an element of the service
  Communication systems, staff morale, externality of staff

- Feedback to the group and SMT
Role of the mentor

- Ensure regular meetings
- Provide guidance on PDP
- Facilitate additional support
  - Attendance at a specific meeting
  - Job shadowing (internal or external)
- Provide or facilitate specific coaching
- Review PDP
- Provide feedback on progress
Ongoing review through mentors

Six month review session
- Reflect on issues from the first session
- The good and the bad
- Personal accounts from group members
  - Putting the theory into practice

Verbal feedback from other staff
Has it been a success? Well, Yes

Feedback from staff involved
Positive, motivated, confident

Impact on the Service
Ability to take on additional work
More confident
Performance improved

Staff promotions
Learning Technology Development Manager
Lending Services Manager
Promotions outside the service
1. What element of the programme did you find most beneficial and why?

2. What 2 things do you feel you have put into practice in your role that have worked well?
Themes from the evaluation

- Confidence building and self-perception
- Self-analysis and critical reflection
- Personalised and contextualised learning
- Internal and external networking and relationship building
- Link between the programme, individual skills and enhancing the service
Improvements for the future

- Better training for mentors
- Build in more time for reflection throughout the programme
- Include more group activities generally and more specific group tasks at the beginning

Lessons learnt

- The need for a tailored approach
- Allowing time for ‘growth’ not just a quick fix approach
- Group work being fundamental to success
- The importance of senior management involvement
- Building self-confidence and self-belief is a must
Pause for thought

From the presentation today do you feel any of the approaches or developments could be applicable to your services?
Our Future Leaders and Managers

Helen Jamieson
Emma Seddon
Mark Roche
Liz Mawdsley
Rita Vorley
Mandy Phillips
Sue Williams
Richmal Lee Smith
Lisa Charmock

Our Mentors

John Davey
Dawn McLoughlin
Rachel Bury
Ruth Wilson
Lindsey Martin
Coral Black
Sue Roberts
Any Questions?

Sue Roberts, University Librarian, Victoria University of Wellington, New Zealand sue.roberts@vuw.ac.nz

Coral Black, Head of Public Services, University of London Research Library Services, UK coral.black@london.ac.uk